How often do you "dress" for dinner, clean house in high heels, or go shopping in satin and sequins? Is your family terribly witty and are all conversations enormously funny one liner after another? Do you handle every crisis with good humor and wise counsel? Is your home always a meticulous showplace that welcomes, no, beckons unexpected guests? And of course, are all your opposite sex encounters clever, teasing, and deliciously forbidden and romantic?

Television may be entertaining but it is not very realistic. You can make yourself crazy by comparing your existence to the characters on soap operas and situation comedies. Unless you can hire writers, producers, designers, and directors to orchestrate your life, relax and enjoy your own reality.

Day Care Funds are Available

Senator John Kuhl Jr. of Hammondsport has urged area non-profit organizations looking to develop or expand all day child care programs to take advantage of a new state program accepting funding applications until Oct. 9.

"Accessible and dependable child care is becoming increasingly important," said Kuhl. "Working parents are finding child care, in many cases, a tough obstacle to overcome."

The senator said that legislation passed this year established a new grant program within the Department of Social Services.

The program is offering $2.85 million in grants to not-for-profits willing to develop or expand fulltime day care services. Full time means the operating of a day care program that meets the needs of working parents by operating for nine to 12 hours a day, usually from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The different types of grants available under the program include:

$40,000 for new or expanded fulltime day care center services to children under two years old.

$30,000 for new or expanded fulltime day care center services to children two years old and older.

$2,500 for new fulltime group family day care homes and family day care homes.

Start-up expenses may include costs related to planning, renting, renovating, initial staff and operating costs, and purchasing equipment approved by the Department of Social Services.

Those interested in further information on the program should contact Kuhl in his district office at 18 Buell Street, P. O. Box 153, Bath, 14810, telephone 607-776-4111.

It's time to put on my high heels, sequins, and pearls. I have to clean the cellar.

Several members of the Splashmasters will be exhibiting their works at the Cohocton Foliage Festival.

Wayland Potato Festival Committee director Thelma Teed sends thanks to everyone who helped make this year's event a success. It only seems fitting to say "thank you, Thelma Teed for your organization, energy, and good humor without which such an event could not exist!"
